Some days have gone by since the last statement was published with regard to the new proposals for peace between France and China. On the 5th instant intelligence was telegraphed down from Peking that the peace proposale had failed, so it would seem | Macao, one gentlemon, who got separated from that the venue of the negotiations had been changed and efforts were being made by China to open direct communication with the Kim. Fortunately he succeeded in rejoining the French Government. Whether the Chinese or the French Government is the more desirous of peace we cannot pretend to say, but here is some reason to believe that both have become very sick of war and its attendant expenses. The Chinese Government cannot be supposed to regard the partial ocsupstion of Formosa by the French with much equanimity, for they have had some pretty plain hints that France does not readi--ty-turn-her-back-on-territory upon which she has once had a grip. Moreover, Formesa is yield a large revenue, and, though not exmuch healthier than any port of Cochin-China, while its possession, would give the holder power at any time to threaten the Chinese coast. Nevertheless, neither the Franch in Britain. The door in the porch opened into a Government nor the French people have any a long and costly war, and would therefore a drawing room, first saluting and shaking hands e less indisposed to retire from Formosa han would be the case under more favourable business concluded, hand shaking, solutation, and frequestances. The right time has come. we believe, for negotiations for peace. There has been more than sufficient bloodshed, the upense of the military operations is growing formal constraint reigned in the place, and reseavier daily, and new complications may be spected to arise constantly if the war goes | depart, wondering what the postmaster would Thus, far, too, though the hostilities invo in some degree of course widened the reach between the two nations, the feeling pirit of rancorous hatred and bloodthirstiness which a profracted war entailing vast and painful sacrifices is sure to engender. Meantime, whatever anticipations or hopes the French 8107 8119 Government may entertain, they are evidently determined not to be caught napping or to allow the negotiations to in any way influence their preparations for war, which are actively proceeding. Should a settlement be deferred much longer, it will be very difficult to arrange its terms, as the French nation will insist upon the exaction of a huge indemnity or a 8733 cession of valuable territory to compensate for the enormous outlay which the conduct of extensive military operations must entail. The present opportunity may prove a crisis in the history of the Celestial Empire: the war cloud, now comparatively small, may spread until it completely overshadows the whole country. SUPREME COURT.

18th November. IN ORIGINAL JURISDICTION. BEFORE THE FULL COURT. YAU LUR AND OTHERS V. RYRIE.

This case was heard rather over a week ag before a jury, when a verdict was given to the effect that the defendant, being entitled to make certain deductions from the plaintiffs' claim on account of the non-fulfilment by the plaintiffe of the contract between the parties for the col lection of a thousand emigrants to proceed to Jamaica, the sum paid into court was more than sufficient to cover the balance due to the plain tiffs. This verdiet was taken subject to a point of law which was reserved as to whether a larger amount than $18,000 damages could be allowed the defendant for breach of contract, that being the penalty specified in the contract. The amount remaining in dispute was $2,298, and the case now came before the court on an ex parts motion for a rule calling on the defendant to show cause why a verdict should not be entered for the plaintiffs for this sum in addition to the amount paid into court. The Attorney-General (Hon. E. L. O'Malley), instructed by Messrs. Dennys and Mossop, appeared for the plaintiffs; Mr. Francis, who was instructed by Messrs, Brereton, Wotton, and Deacon, was present, watching the case, but taking no part in the proceedings.

Mr. Mossop appeared for the plaintiff, who trades under the name of Socy Shing as a compradore at No. 53, Central Market, and stated that the claim was a simple one for goods sold and delivered. His client had been in the habit of supplying the defendant with provisions, and the amount claimed was due, the same having been applied for on various occasions. · A gentleman named Goldring appeared for the defence, informing his Lordship that he was the manager of the defendant's house, the Hotel de L'Univers, and he said there was nothing due to the plaintiff. Mr. Mossop objected to Mr. Goldring's appearing in the case unless he produced a written authority from the defendant. He knew nothing about that gentleman excepting that he informed

The plaintiff was then called to prove his claim He suid he had supplied provisions to defendant for some time, and his account had been settled up to the end of April. He had after that supplied goods for four days, the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th of May, to the extent of $103.19, which amount was still due. He had applied for payhad told him not to be anxious about it, and that she would pay him by and bye. He produced his Chinese book and a book written in English by his accountant, Lui Sui Lok, who entered the latter because Mr. Stainfield kept his own book. Mr. Goldring produced the defendant's compradore's book, showing that the account was closed on the 30th April, and the cash book showing the money paid up to that time. He said he could also prove that after that time money had been given to the cook to provide provisions for the hotel, as Mr. Stainfield discovered that there had been some swindling going on between the compradors and the cook. His Lordship asked him if he had any witness
